Littleton Says the Expelled Members Pledged to Establish Rule in U.S.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21.-Traitors envoys of an "alien and invisible "agents of Lenine and Trotzky," "masquerading under the cloak of peaceful political action" were a few of the titles given the five Socialist members of the assembly this afternoon before Judiiciary Committee of the Assembly, which will decide whether the Socialists should be reinstated. Today, the second day of the hearing. the session lasted well into the Martin W. Littleton, counsel for the judictary committee, made a patriotic spech which caused threequarters of the 700 spectators in the cheer again.

Morris Hillquit, suave, ironical, replied to Littleton, gaining the plaudits of about 150 Socialists sym pathizers from New York, sprinkled among the throng at the hearing.

Denial by Chairman artin of their most important request brought the hard-fought session to a clase. The motion was for the judiciary committee to submit a bill of particulars supplementary to the charges of disloyalty, and showing specifcally what other charges would be brought it will be weeks again before the asembly reports on the findings of the udiciary committee.

"r. Hillquit in his speech yesterday said that 'what is treason today is the law tomorrow." quoted Martin Littleton in the peroration of his eloquent reply to the address of Sevmour Stedman, one of the lawyers "Treason will be the back a gray lock of hair that had tumbled over his eyes. "It will be the law-if we let traitors write the law." For a moment there was silence, and then came a roar of approval rever-
